

Health and Safety Policy

Introduction

The Health, Safety and Welfare at Work Act 1974 imposes a statutory duty on employers to ensure, in so far as is reasonably practicable, the health and safety of their employees whilst at work. This duty also extends to others who may be affected by that work.

This Health and Safety Policy seeks to provide the foundation for LMA to establish and ensure a positive health and safety culture for all members of LMA community, through coherent processes and compliance with all relevant standards, thus enabling staff and learners to achieve their potential in an environment where positive well being is the expectation for all, producing learners and staff who flourish by being confident, healthy, safe, emotionally resilient, risk intelligent and personally fulfilled.

LMA is committed to achieving, so far as is reasonably practicable, the best standards of health, safety and welfare for its employees, learners, visitors and others who may be affected by the activities of LMA and to fully meet its legal obligations and corporate responsibilities.

LMA considers health and safety to be an integral part of quality and will endeavour to have in place an effective health and safety management system and demonstrate continuous improvement in line with HSE guidance.

Injuries and accidents can often be avoided. LMA is determined to improve systems to reduce injuries and ill health.

The ultimate responsibility for health and safety rests with the Principal.

There is a management structure in place to support the implementation of the Health and Safety Policy. This structure includes a competent person who will work closely with all staff.

All employees of LMA have responsibilities for their own health and safety and should cooperate with LMA as their employer to achieve safe working practices. Managers will consult staff on matters which may affect their health and safety.

This Health and Safety Policy document sets out the management of health, safety and welfare and outlines the arrangements made by LMA to achieve the aims of the policy statement.

LMA managers have responsibility for health and safety within their areas of responsibility.

This policy forms part of employees' conditions of employment. Failure to comply may be treated as a disciplinary matter.

3. The Health and Safety Policy will be reviewed annually and amended and updated as and when necessary. Communication of any such changes will be made to all employees through organised meetings, training and where necessary induction

4. There are established and maintained effective procedures for consultation and communication between all levels of management and employees on all matters relating to health, safety and welfare.

The organisation of health and safety

Background Information

The Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999, place specific duties on management to ensure that health and safety is managed correctly in terms of assessment, monitoring, planning, reviewing and training.

Health and Safety is incorporated into the current management structure.

The following paragraphs outline the responsibilities placed on LMA management.

Risk Assessment – Regulation

Risk assessment should be carried out for all activities and work areas. A “suitable and sufficient” assessment should be made of risks to LMA employees and of risk to people not in LMA’s employment, for example; learners and visitors. All curriculum managers are responsible for ensuring that all activities and work areas are covered by suitable and sufficient risk assessments. Managers should discuss risk assessments with staff at team meetings.

Health Surveillance – Regulation 5

In addition to health surveillance required under the Control of Substances Hazardous to Health Regulations 2002, there may be other work activities which may give rise to adverse health conditions or identifiable diseases, health surveillance is designed to detect these as early as possible so as to prevent risks to LMA employees. Individual records will be kept regarding health surveillance. Any concerns regarding health surveillance should be addressed to LMA safety officer.

Health and Safety Assistance - Regulation

LMA management must appoint one or more competent person(s) to assist in meeting the requirements of health and safety legislation. This (these) person(s) need not be qualified but sufficient training, experience and knowledge is required. Management must ensure that those they appoint to assist them with health and safety measures are competent to carry out whatever tasks they are assigned and given adequate information and support. LMA's competent person is the Health and Safety Officer.

LMA Senior Leadership will be responsible for ensuring that the correct expertise exists within the current staff, and managers must make themselves aware of where expertise is available in LMA, so that they may draw on their assistance effectively and efficiently.

Procedures for Serious and Imminent Danger - Regulation 7

LMA management is responsible for providing suitable procedures in respect of cases of serious and imminent danger for those employed in using LMA or its services. There must be sufficient numbers of competent persons nominated to implement the emergency procedures - where these involve evacuation from a building or buildings.

Where it is necessary to restrict access to an area on health and safety grounds, LMA management must ensure that employees may not have access unless suitably trained for the prevailing circumstances. Procedures must allow for those exposed to serious or imminent danger to stop working and reach a place of safety and prevent them from returning whilst such a situation exists.

Information for Employees - Regulation 8

Managers must provide employees with appropriate information on the risks to their health and safety as identified by risk assessments and the measures which have been taken to control these risks. Managers must also provide information to employees on serious and imminent danger procedures. Managers must inform employees of the competent persons who will assist LMA in such circumstances.

The above information must also be made available to learners, part-time lecturers, casual staff, fixed term contract staff and employees of other employers sharing the same premises. Where language problems exist, the use of translation facilities and/or pictographic signs should be considered.

Co-operation and Coordination between Employers -

Regulation 9

Where two or more employers share a workspace within LMA, they should co-operate on health and safety issues, LMA management needs to inform other employers in LMA of any risk to their employees arising from LMA activities.

A contractor or delivering supplier is regarded as sharing a workplace, even if only for a short time, for the purpose of this Regulation.

Employees from an outside organisation undertaking working on Host's Premises -

Regulation 10

LMA management must provide appropriate information on health and safety issues to the employees of other employers working within LMA. These may be contract cleaners, maintenance staff, electricians etc.

Capability and Training - Regulation

Work Experience

Work experience offers students of today the opportunity to prepare for the challenges of tomorrow. LMA students can become familiar with the skills and attitudes needed by modern business and recognise that the demands of working life are undergoing rapid and constant change.

LMA follows guidelines issued by the Department for Education which has worked closely with the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) to produce simpler and clearer health and safety guidance for all those involved in work experience. The new HSE guidance aims to reduce the bureaucratic burden on employers, encouraging them to offer valuable opportunities for developing skills and behaviours that prepare people for employment, whilst safeguarding the wellbeing of learners.
